(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.)
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Dec. 1.—Last week a handsomely engraved invitation was sent around to the various regiments at Schofield Barracks inviting the officers and ladies to be present at the post hop given on Friday evening by the 32nd Infantry. This regiment, which is called the "Baby Regiment," is a past master in entertaining and the hop Friday evening was no less a success than its predecessors. In the dancing pavilion numbers of swaying Japanese lanterns lighted up a very beautiful scene. Regimental guidons and wigwag flags were crossed on the side posts or hung from cross beams. In the center of the pavilion the main feature of decoration was placed, namely the national and regimental flags with crossed staffs. At the foot of these were placed green ferns and potted plants while the same verdure was placed at intervals around the hall. The clubrooms were also decorated with cut flowers and ferns principally around the cut glass punch bowl and on the mantel and tables. After taps had sounded clearly through the post, the dancers adjourned to the clubrooms where a most delicious hop supper was served. Music for dancing was furnished by the regimental band, of whom many encores were demanded. Social Annoyance

From a hygienic standpoint social annoyance is getting serious, since the strain on both the body and the mind requires constant physical attention. Certainly nothing is more annoying to a refined person than offensive perspiration or body odors. Those who have used Tyro's Antiseptic Powder know it to be the one remedy which never disappoints. For general use—dependable in all cases—it should be in every household.

Dr. R. E. Charley, of the Faculté de Paris, France, said: "Tyro's is a very unpleasant affliction and hard to cure at first, it is surely these conditions." He also says, "there are to be found in the drug store many preparations containing boracic acid and talcum. These preparations, generally used in a dried state, have the great inconvenience of clogging the pores of the skin. This is not the case with Tyro's Antiseptic Powder, as it acts as a desiccating, stimulating agent. My attention was called to this fact by several cases of severe inflammation produced by Poison Oak. While no other remedy would give relief, Tyro's Antiseptic in the proportion of two teaspoonfuls to a pint of water allayed the intense pain in a comparatively short space of time."

This preparation is sold in boxes at twenty-five cents and one dollar, by the manufacturer, J. E. Tyro, Chemist, Inc., Washington, D. C.
